

Your DSCSA Responsibilities

- Become Authorized Trading Partner
Obtain license or hold a valid registration depending on your role. For 3PLs and wholesale distributors, report annual licensure and other information.
- Manage Transactions Data
Collect, record and provide data about transactions related to products distributed in the United States, including data about the trading partners involved in those transactions.
- Create Product Identifiers
Add a product identifier featuring standardized graphics such as NDC, serial and lot numbers, and expiration dates in both human- and machine- readable formats.
- Enable Product Verification
Establish systems and processes for verifying product identifiers on specific packages or homogenous cases of products, including saleable return products in the case of dispensers, to identify any potentially suspect items.
- Enable Product Investigation
Establish systems and processes for investigating and quarantining suspect items upon their discovery or upon a request for verification from the FDA.
- Create FDA Notification Process
Establish systems and processes to promptly notify the FDA and other stakeholders if a suspect item is found to be legitimate; or, if the item is found to be illegitimate, the details of its quarantine and disposition.
